Lorenzo Kamel ha ottenuto un M.A. biennale (“with honours”) in Israeli Society & Politics alla Hebrew University di Gerusalemme e un dottorato di ricerca in Storia (“eccellente”) all’Università di Bologna. In precedenza ha conseguito una laurea di vecchio ordinamento (“con lode”) in Filosofia presso l’Università di Roma La Sapienza.

È Professore associato di Storia Contemporanea (M-STO/04) all’Università degli Studi di Torino – dove tiene i corsi di “History of Colonial and post-colonial spaces”, “The Contemporary Middle East in a Comparative Perspective” e “History of the Contemporary Middle East” – e membro del collegio dei docenti del dottorato in “Global History of Empires”.

È inoltre direttore delle collane editoriali dell’Istituto Affari Internazionali (IAI) e, dal 2014, direttore scientifico del “New-Med Research Network” (finanziato dalla Compagnia di San Paolo, dal Ministero degli Affari Esteri e della Cooperazione Internazionale, dal German Marshall Fund of the United States e dall’OSCE).

Ha ottenuto incarichi di insegnamento e ricerca in numerose università in Europa, Stati Uniti e Medio Oriente, tra cui la Albert-Ludwigs-Universität di Friburgo – dove è stato Marie Curie Experienced Researcher per un anno – e l’Università di Harvard, dove, con la sponsorship di Roger Owen e Sara Roy, è stato, tra altri incarichi, anche Postdoctoral Fellow per due anni.

Ha ricevuto l’Abilitazione Scientifica Nazionale del MIUR come professore associato nei settori concorsuali 11/A3 Storia Contemporanea (D.D. 1532/2016), 10/N1 Culture del Vicino Oriente Antico, del Medio Oriente e dell’Africa (D.D. 1532/2016), 14/B2 Storia delle Relazioni Internazionali delle Società e delle Istituzioni Extraeuropee (D.D. 1532/2016): in tutti e tre i casi con giudizio unanime delle commissioni.

Nel 2014 è stato nominato Responsabile di ricerca per l’area del Medio Oriente e del Nord Africa all’Istituto Affari Internazionali (IAI), dove è stato anche coordinatore IAI del progetto Horizon2020 MENARA (“Middle East and North Africa Regional Architecture”), co-diretto da CIDOB e IAI.

È membro di “Eumenia – Jean Monnet Network” ed ha partecipato, con diversi incarichi, a numerosi altri progetti europei, inclusi “EU-LISTCO” (Horizon2020) e “MedReset” (Horizon2020).

Ha organizzato, nella veste di direttore scientifico, circa 15 convegni internazionali in 9 diversi paesi (Libano, Tunisia, Giordania, Israele/Palestina, Italia, Inghilterra, Cipro, Grecia, Turchia).

Ha pubblicato 10 libri (cinque come autore) su temi legati al Medio Oriente e al Mediterraneo, inclusi “The Middle East from Empire to Sealed Identities” (Edinburgh University Press), “Imperial Perceptions of Palestine: British Influence and Power in Late Ottoman Times, 1854-1923” (vincitore del primo premio del “Palestine Book Award” 2016, sezione accademica) e “Arab Spring and Peripheries: A Decentring Research Agenda” (Routledge 2016).

È autore di oltre trenta articoli su riviste accademiche, tra cui The British Journal of Middle Eastern Studies, Peace and Change, Euroasian Studies, New Middle Eastern Studies, Passato e Presente, Storicamente, Oriente Moderno, Mediterranean Politics, The International Spectator, Contemporanea, Nuova Rivista Storica.

Serve nel board di numerose riviste accademiche, incluse “Palgrave Communications”, “Eurostudium” e “Passato e Presente” (membro della direzione), ed è autore di circa 200 articoli, commenti e policy papers su giornali e think tank italiani e internazionali, inclusi Al Jazeera, Ha’aretz, Project Syndicate, Al-Monitor, The National (Abu Dhabi), The National Interest (Washington), La Repubblica, La Stampa, Eurasia Review, Opinio Juris, Aspen, openDemocracy, e-International Relations (e-IR), Middle East Policy Council, Pravda, The Jerusalem Post, +972mag, The Hill, Middle East Monitor (MEMO), Limes, Equilibri, The Daily Star (Lebanon), The Forward, Sputnik, The Huffington Post, Al-Araby Al-Jadeed, ANSA, Al Arabiya.

È sovente ospite in programmi e speciali di approfondimento (Rai 1, Mediaset, Sky, RadioRai 1 e ANSA, per quanto concerne l’Italia) e ha ricevuto il “Palestine Academic Book Award” 2016 (sezione accademica), il “Premio Internazionale Giuseppe Sciacca” 2010 e il Fritz Thyssen Grant presso l’Università di Bologna, dove ha tenuto corsi di Storia contemporanea comparata.

Ha tenuto corsi in diverse università nazionali e internazionali - e su invito della Presidenza del Consiglio dei Ministri - e ha vissuto per anni in diversi paesi del Medio Oriente, trascorrendo inoltre lunghi periodi come visiting fellow alla Birzeit University (Ramallah), alla Bilkent University (Ankara), alla ‘Ain Shams University (Cairo) e alla Hebrew University di Gerusalemme.

È direttore di tre collane editoriali (inclusa la collana “Global Politics” per la casa editrice Peter Lang) e peer reviewer per lo European Research Council (ERC Consolidator Grant “The Study of the Human Past”), Routledge (collana libri Storia), International Affairs (Chatham House), Eurias e numerose altre istituzioni, case editrici e riviste accademiche.

Ha 38 anni ed è l’orgoglioso padre di Niccolò e Valerie.
